

Instructions for finding the chip number on the 924S Porsche

Before starting we recommend that you disconnect the positive terminal of the battery.

The 924S ECU is located under the dash board by the steering column.

You may need to remove the Phillips screws securing the black plastic cover that partially conceals the ECU.

Highlighted for clarity

You should now be able to read the Bosch part number that we need this starts 0261 200.

The picture on the right shows the ECU (removed for illustration purposes) so you can see the number from this ECU that reads 0261 200 195 & this is all we need. It also helps to confirm your vehicle year & model when ordering.
